

INDIRECT CLEARING - DIRECT CLIENT DISCLOSURE DOCUMENT

INTRODUCTION

Throughout this document references to "we", "our" and "us" are references to Banque de Luxembourg providing indirect clearing services (the Direct Client). References to "you" and "your" are references to the client of Banque de Luxembourg (the Indirect Client).

Terms not otherwise defined in this disclosure document shall have the meaning assigned to them in the Execution and Indirect Client Clearing Supplement.

WHAT IS THE PURPOSE OF THIS DOCUMENT?

To enable us to comply with our obligations as a Direct Client under the Indirect Clearing RTS<sup>1</sup>, which require that, where we are providing indirect clearing services (the Indirect Client Clearing Services) to you that involve us clearing derivatives through a clearing broker on an EEA central counterparty (EEA CCP), we must:

- offer you a choice of a basic omnibus indirect client account and a gross omnibus indirect client account (as discussed under "The types of accounts available" in Part One B below);
- disclose to you the details of the different levels of segregation;
- publicly disclose the general terms and conditions under which we provide services to you (as discussed under "The terms and conditions on which we offer services to you" ; and
- describe the risk associated with each type of account.

In respect of the treatment of margin and collateral at CCP level you should refer to the CCP disclosures that the CCPs are required to prepare.

ORGANISATION OF THIS DOCUMENT

This document is set out as follows:

- Part One A provides some background to indirect clearing.
- Part One B gives information about the differences between the basic omnibus indirect client account and the gross omnibus indirect client account, explains how this impacts on the clearing of your derivatives and sets out some of the other factors that might affect the level of protection you receive in respect of assets provided to us as margin.
- Part One C sets out some of the main insolvency considerations.
- Part Two provides an overview of the different levels of segregation that the clearing brokers offer, together with an explanation of the main implications of each.

WHAT ARE YOU REQUIRED TO DO?

You must review the information provided in this document and the relevant clearing member disclosures and confirm to us in writing which account type you would like us to maintain with respect to each clearing broker and CCP through which we clear derivatives for you from time to time. We will explain how we would like you to make this confirmation and by when. If you do not confirm within the requested timeframe, we will record the positions and assets relating to you in an account that has the level of Indirect Clearing RTS-compliant segregation which is the closest to your pre-Indirect Clearing RTS account structure, provided that:

- we have used reasonable and multiple endeavours to obtain your written choice of segregation and have evidence of our efforts;
- in our communication with you, we have informed you that your failure to elect a level of segregation in accordance with the Indirect Clearing RTS will result in us allocating you to an account having the level of Indirect Clearing RTS-compliant segregation which is the closest to your pre-Indirect Clearing RTS account structure (e.g. an omnibus segregation, net or gross as the case may be); and
- we have explained to you that election by us does not preclude you to elect a different (e.g. higher) level of segregation at any time by communicating it in writing to us.

IMPORTANT

Whilst this document will be helpful to you when making this decision, this document does not constitute legal or any other form of advice and must not be relied on as such. This document provides a high level analysis of several complex and/or new areas of law, whose effect will vary depending on the specific facts of any particular case, some of which have not been tested in the courts. It does not provide all the information you may need to make your decision on which account type or level of segregation is suitable for you. It is your responsibility to review and conduct your own due diligence on the relevant rules, legal documentation and any other information provided to you on each of our account offerings and those of the various clearing brokers and CCPs through which we clear derivatives for you. You may wish to appoint your own professional advisors to assist you with this.

We shall not in any circumstances be liable, whether in contract, tort, breach of statutory duty or otherwise for any losses or damages that may be suffered as a result of using this document. Such losses or damages include (a) any loss of profit or revenue, damage to reputation or loss of any contract or other business opportunity or goodwill and (b) any indirect loss or consequential loss. No responsibility or liability is accepted for any differences of interpretation of legislative provisions and related guidance on which it is based. This paragraph does not extend to an exclusion of liability for, or remedy in respect of, fraudulent misrepresentation.

Please note that this disclosure has been prepared on the basis of Luxembourg law save as otherwise stated. However, issues under other laws may be relevant to your due diligence. For example, the law governing the CCP rules or related agreements; the law governing our insolvency; the law of the jurisdiction of the CCP, the law of the jurisdiction of incorporation of the clearing broker; and the law of the location of any assets.

PART ONE A: A BRIEF BACKGROUND TO INDIRECT CLEARING

The market distinguishes two main types of clearing models: the "agency" model and the "principal-to-principal" model. Most of the CCPs which our clearing brokers use adopt the "principal-to-principal" model, and this document assumes all transactions are cleared according to this model.

1. The "principal-to-principal" clearing model

When clearing transactions for you through a clearing broker, we usually enter into a transaction with our clearing broker and our clearing broker will enter into a transaction directly with the CCP.

The terms of each Indirect Client Transaction are equivalent to those of the related Agreed Clearing Member Transaction, except that (i) each Indirect Client Transaction will be governed by a clearing arrangement between our clearing broker and us and (ii) our clearing broker will take the opposite position in the Agreed Clearing Member Transaction to the position it has under the related Indirect Client Transaction.

The Indirect Client Transaction entered into with our clearing broker is made in our name but for your account and on your behalf. The obligations and commitments that we will agree upon with our clearing broker under the Indirect Client Transaction will ultimately be bearing on you. The rights and obligations arising from the performance of our Indirect Client Clearing Services are stipulated in the Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement.

Copyright © 2018 by FIA, Inc. FIA, Inc. has not reviewed or endorsed, and does not claim any copyright in respect of, any modifications that may have been made to this document.

This document is based on the January 2016 version of the ISDA and FIA Clearing Member Disclosure Document in which both the International Swaps and Derivatives Association, Inc. and FIA, Inc. have copyright.

Under the terms of the clearing arrangement between our clearing broker and us, a Indirect Client Transaction will arise without the need for any further action by either our clearing broker or us, as soon as the Agreed Clearing Member Transaction arises between our clearing broker and the CCP. Once those two transactions referred to above have been entered into, your transaction is considered to be "cleared".

As the principal to the CCP, our clearing broker is required to provide assets to the CCP as margin for the Agreed Clearing Member Transactions that relate to you and to ensure the CCP has as much margin as it requires at any time. We will therefore ask you for margin. If you have provided us with assets as margin, you may face what we call "transit risk" - this is the risk that, if we were to default prior to providing such assets to the clearing broker, or our clearing broker were to default prior to providing such assets to the CCP, the assets that should have been recorded in your account at the CCP will not have been and will not benefit from the protections described below under "What happens if we are declared to be in default by a clearing broker?".

However, in many cases you may not actually face transit risk because our clearing brokers often call margin from us early in the morning to pass it on to the CCP so we will often use our own funds to satisfy the margin call and then seek to recover such amount from you. In these cases where the margin has been funded by us and has already been passed on to the CCP before we call it from you, it is rather that we are exposed to you for the interim period. The arrangements between you and us relating to how the margin calls will be funded will be set out in the Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement between you and us.

Please see Part One B for an explanation of how this is relevant to the choice of account types.

2. What if you want to transfer your positions to another Direct Client?

There may be circumstances where you wish to transfer some or all of your rights and obligations governed by the Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement resulting from the Indirect Client Transactions (hereinafter referred to as Positions) to another direct client or another clearing broker on a business as usual basis (i.e. in the absence of us having been declared in default by a clearing broker). We are not obliged to facilitate this under the Indirect Clearing RTS but we may be willing to do so subject to our ability to transfer the Indirect Client Transactions to which they relate and the margin provided to the clearing broker in connection with them (which will depend on the relevant arrangements with the clearing broker and the CCP) and any conditions set out in our Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement. You will also need to find a direct client or clearing broker that is willing to accept such Positions and the related Indirect Client Transactions and assets.

It may be easier to transfer your Positions and Indirect Client Transactions that are recorded in a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account than those recorded in a Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account, (both types of account being described in more details in Part One B) for the same reasons as set out below under "Will the Indirect Client Transactions and assets relating to you be automatically ported to a back-up clearing broker or back-up direct client?"

3. What happens if we are declared to be in default by a clearing broker?

If we are declared to be in default by a clearing broker, there are two possibilities with respect to the Indirect Client Transactions and assets related to you:

- with respect to a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account, the clearing broker may, at your request, try to transfer (port) to another clearing broker (a back-up clearing broker) or another direct client (a back-up direct client and together with the back-up clearing broker a back-up entity), such Indirect Client Transactions and assets; or

Copyright © 2018 by FIA, Inc. FIA, Inc. has not reviewed or endorsed, and does not claim any copyright in respect of, any modifications that may have been made to this document.

This document is based on the January 2016 version of the ISDA and FIA Clearing Member Disclosure Document in which both the International Swaps and Derivatives Association, Inc. and FIA, Inc. have copyright.

- if porting cannot be achieved with respect to a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account and in any default with respect to a Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account, the clearing broker will terminate the Indirect Client Transactions that relate to you (see "What happens if porting is not achieved" below).

The porting process will differ depending on the clearing broker but it is likely to involve a close-out (with us) and a re-establishment (with the back-up entity) of the Indirect Client Transactions. This is because a mere transfer of the open Indirect Client Transactions and related assets from us to the back-up entity outside such structure is currently unlikely to be recognized and enforceable as such under Luxembourg law. In any event, from a Luxembourg law perspective, porting will depend on the willingness of the clearing broker to implement such a structure (i.e. close-out (with us) and a re-establishment (with the back-up entity) of the Indirect Client Transactions). In some cases clearing brokers will support this structure legally by requiring us to grant a security interest to you over some or all of our related rights against the clearing broker but in other cases where clearing brokers can rely on the Indirect Clearing RTS and local legislation, this may not be necessary.

4. Will the Indirect Client Transactions and assets relating to you be automatically ported to a back-up entity?

No. Even where porting would be effective, there will be a number of conditions which must be satisfied before the Indirect Client Transactions and assets that relate to you can be ported to a back-up entity.

These conditions will be set by the clearing broker and will include obtaining your consent. In all cases you will need to have a back-up entity that has agreed to accept the Indirect Client Transactions. You may wish to appoint a back-up entity upfront as part of your clearing arrangements but the back-up entity is unlikely to be able to confirm that it is willing to accept the Indirect Client Transactions until the default occurs. The back-up entity may also have conditions that they require you to meet. You may also be able to agree with the clearing broker that it may choose a back-up entity on your behalf. If you have not appointed a back-up entity prior to our default, or agreed with the clearing broker that it may appoint one on your behalf, then this may mean that porting is less likely to occur.

If porting is achieved, your Positions with us will terminate in accordance with our Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement. We would expect your back-up entity to put in place a new indirect client clearing arrangement between itself and you.

The type of account and level of segregation you choose will have an impact on the ability to port the Indirect Client Transactions and assets to a back-up entity upon our default.

If you choose a Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account (described in more detail in Part One B), no contractual arrangements are required to be put in place for porting and, therefore, porting will ordinarily not be available.

If you choose a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account (described in more detail in Part One B), you can appoint a back-up entity with respect to just your Indirect Client Transactions (i.e. independently of our other clients in the same Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account).

5. What happens if porting is not achieved?

Each clearing broker is permitted to specify a period of time after which, if it has not been able to achieve porting, it will be permitted to actively manage its risks in relation to the Indirect Client Transactions. This period of time will vary across clearing brokers. If you want to port your Indirect Client Transactions (where possible), you will need to notify the clearing broker and show that you can satisfy the other conditions within this period.

This document is based on the January 2016 version of the ISDA and FIA Clearing Member Disclosure Document in which both the International Swaps and Derivatives Association, Inc. and FIA, Inc. have copyright.

Otherwise, the clearing broker will terminate the Indirect Client Transactions and perform a close-out calculation in respect of them in accordance with the clearing arrangement. If there is an amount owed by the clearing broker in respect of the Indirect Client Transactions, the clearing broker will attempt to pay such amount directly to you if you have chosen a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account. If the clearing broker does not succeed in this attempt or if you have chosen a Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account, the clearing broker will pay it to us (or our insolvency practitioner).

If the clearing broker terminates the Indirect Client Transactions, then your Positions are also likely to terminate. The related termination calculations, referred to as the Early Termination Amount, will be performed in accordance with the Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement between you and us and such calculations will likely mirror those performed by the clearing broker in respect of the Indirect Client Transactions.

If you are due a payment from us as a result of those close-out calculations, the amount due from us to you will be reduced by any amount that you receive (or are deemed to receive) directly from the clearing broker.

Please see Part One C for a consideration of the main insolvency considerations.

PART ONE B: YOUR CHOICE OF ACCOUNT TYPE AND THE FACTORS TO CONSIDER

1. The types of accounts available

Reference to accounts means the accounts in the books and records of each clearing broker. The clearing broker uses these accounts to record the Indirect Client Transactions that we enter into in connection with the Indirect Client Clearing Services provided to you and the assets that we provide to the clearing broker in respect of such Indirect Client Transactions.

There are two basic types of indirect client accounts available – Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Accounts and Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Accounts. Some of the CCPs then offer different levels of segregation within some of those account types as described in Part Two of this document.

As noted, we refer you to the CCP disclosures which the CCPs are required to prepare and which set out the treatment of margin and collateral at CCP level. We have also included below a general overview of the most common segregation approaches taken by CCPs, but note that for any particular CCP, there is no substitute for such CCP's own disclosure.

1.1. Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account

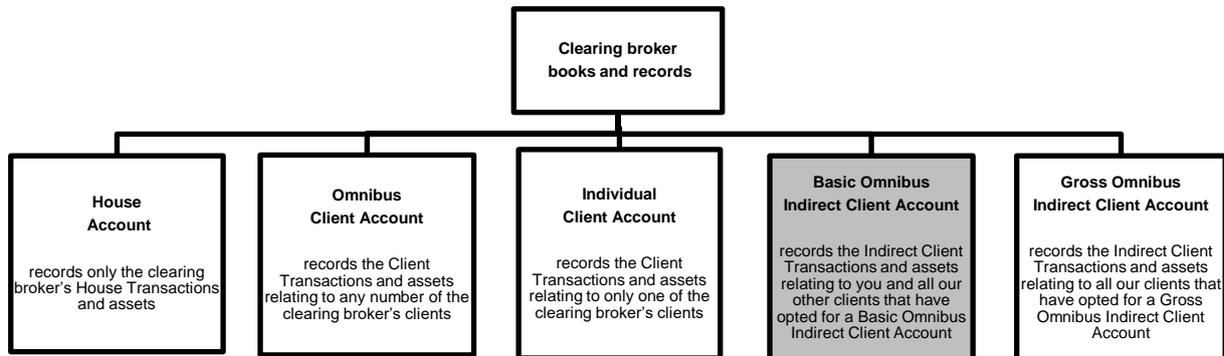

Under this account type, at the level of the clearing broker, the Indirect Client Transactions (including the corresponding assets in the clearing broker's accounts) relating to you are segregated from:

- any transactions the clearing broker has cleared for its own account (the clearing broker's House Transactions) and any of their assets;
- any Client Transactions (including corresponding assets in the clearing broker's accounts) relating to us or the account of one of the clearing broker's other Direct Clients (regardless of whether we / they have opted for an individual client account or omnibus client account);
- any Indirect Client Transactions (including corresponding assets in the clearing broker's accounts) relating to any clients of the clearing broker's other clients that have also opted for a Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account and which are recorded in a different Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account; and
- any Indirect Client Transactions (including corresponding assets in the clearing broker's accounts) relating to any of our clients or any clients of the clearing broker's other clients that have opted for a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account.

However, the Indirect Client Transactions (including corresponding assets in the clearing broker's accounts) that relate to you will be commingled with the Indirect Client Transactions (including corresponding assets in the clearing broker's accounts) relating to any of our other clients that have also opted for a Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account and which are recorded in the same Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account.

Can the Indirect Client Transactions and related collateral be netted with the clearing broker's House Transactions and assets?	No
Can the Indirect Client Transactions and related assets be netted with those relating to us or the clearing broker's other Direct Clients?	No
Can the Indirect Client Transactions and related collateral be netted with those relating to our clients?	Yes (provided our other clients' Indirect Client Transactions and assets are recorded in the same Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account)
Can the Indirect Client Transactions and related collateral be netted with those relating to the clearing broker's other Indirect Clients?	No

The clearing broker will agree not to net the Indirect Client Transactions relating to you with its House Transactions or any Client Transactions or any Indirect Client Transactions not recorded in the same Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account, nor use the assets relating to such Indirect Client Transactions with respect to any House Transaction or Client Transaction or Indirect Client Transaction recorded in any other account.

However, both we and the clearing broker may net the Indirect Client Transactions that are recorded in the same Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account. The assets provided in relation to the Indirect Client Transaction credited to that Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account can be used in relation to any Indirect Client Transaction credited to that Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account.

Please see Part Two for an overview of the risks in relation to a Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account and for details of the different levels of segregation that may be available at different CCPs.

1.2. Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account

Under this account type, at the level of the clearing broker, the Indirect Client Transactions (including the corresponding assets in the clearing broker's accounts) relating to you are segregated from:

- any House Transactions and any of their assets;
- any Client Transactions (including corresponding assets in the clearing broker's accounts) relating to us or the account of one of the clearing broker's other Direct Clients (regardless of whether they/we have opted for an individual client account or omnibus client account);
- any Indirect Client Transactions (including corresponding assets in the clearing broker's accounts) relating to any of our clients or clients of the clearing broker's other clients that have opted for a Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account; and
- any Indirect Client Transactions (including corresponding assets in the clearing broker's accounts) relating to any clients of the clearing broker's other clients that have also opted for a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account and which are recorded in a different Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account.

However, the Indirect Client Transactions (including corresponding assets in the clearing broker's accounts) that relate to you will be commingled with the Indirect Client Transactions (including corresponding assets in the clearing broker's accounts) relating to any of our other clients that have also opted for a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account and which are recorded in the same Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account.

Can the Indirect Client Transactions and related collateral be netted with the clearing broker's House Transactions and assets?	No
Can the Indirect Client Transactions and related assets be netted with those relating to us or the clearing broker's other Direct Clients?	No

Can the Indirect Client Transactions and related collateral be netted with those relating to our clients?	The Indirect Client Transactions relating to you will not be netted with the Indirect Client Transactions relating to any of our other clients. However, the collateral relating to you may be used to cover Indirect Client Transactions of our other clients to the extent it is recorded in the same Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account.
Can the Indirect Client Transactions and related collateral be netted with those relating to the clearing broker's other Indirect Clients?	No

The clearing broker will agree not to net the Indirect Client Transactions relating to you with its House Transactions, the Client Transactions relating to us or the clearing broker's other Direct Clients, the Indirect Client Transactions of the clearing broker's other Direct Clients' clients or any Indirect Client Transactions relating to our other clients (regardless of whether they are recorded in the same Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account).

The clearing broker will also agree not to use the assets relating to the Indirect Client Transactions relating to you with respect to any House Transaction or any Client Transaction or the Indirect Client Transaction recorded in any other account.

However, both we and the clearing broker may use the assets provided in relation to the Indirect Client Transactions relating to you in relation to any Indirect Client Transaction relating to our other clients that have also opted for a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account which are credited to the same Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account.

Please see Part Two for an overview of the risks in relation to a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account and for details of the different levels of segregation that may be available at different clearing brokers.

2. Other factors that may impact on the level of protection you receive in respect of assets that you provide to us as margin under the Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement

There are a number of factors that, together, determine the level of protection you will receive in respect of assets that you provide to us as margin:

- whether you choose a Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account or a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account (as discussed under "The types of accounts available" above);
- in each case, whether such assets are transferred by way of title transfer or security interest;
- whether you will get back the same type of asset as you provided as margin; and
- the bankruptcy and other laws that govern the clearing broker, us and the CCP.

The rest of Part One B sets out further details for each of these variables and their implications under Luxembourg Law.

3. Will you provide cash or non-cash assets as margin?

---

As noted under "The "principal-to-principal" clearing model" in Part One A, as a Direct Client of the clearing broker, we are required to transfer assets to the clearing broker in respect of the Indirect Client Transactions carried out when providing the Indirect Client Clearing Services to you. Clearing brokers only accept certain types of liquid cash and non-cash assets as margin.

As it is market practice, we will decide what types of assets to accept from you as margin and this will be set out in the Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement between you and us.

4. Do you provide assets to us on a title transfer or a security interest basis?

As it is market practice, we will decide the basis on which we are willing to accept assets from you.

This will be set out in the Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement between you and us. Unless otherwise agreed between you and us, our Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement provides in principle that you transfer assets to us on a security interest basis and not by way of title transfer.

4.1. Security Interest

Where our Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement provides for the transfer of assets by way of security interest, when you transfer assets to us, you retain full beneficial ownership of such assets. Such assets are transferred to us on the basis that the assets still belong to you, but you have granted us a security interest with respect to such assets.

We may enforce that security interest if you default in your obligations to us. Absent the exercise of any right of use by us (see below), only at the point of such enforcement would title in such assets or their liquidation value transfer to us. We will record in our books and records that we have received such assets from you.

Prior to any such default, you may also give us a right to use such assets, in which case the assets continue to belong to you. Once we exercise the right of use (e.g. by posting the assets to a clearing broker) you will bear our credit risk in respect of the return of such assets. The circumstances in which we may exercise such right of use and the purposes for which we may use any assets will be set out in our Indirect Client Clearing Agreement.

Copyright © 2018 by FIA, Inc. FIA, Inc. has not reviewed or endorsed, and does not claim any copyright in respect of, any modifications that may have been made to this document.

This document is based on the January 2016 version of the ISDA and FIA Clearing Member Disclosure Document in which both the International Swaps and Derivatives Association, Inc. and FIA, Inc. have copyright.

4.2. Title Transfer

Where the Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement provides for the transfer of assets by way of title transfer, when you transfer assets (Transferred Assets) to us, we become the full owner of such assets and you lose all ownership rights in such assets. We will record in our books and records that we have received such Transferred Assets from you. We will be obliged to deliver to you equivalent assets to such Transferred Assets (Equivalent Assets) in the circumstances set out in our Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement.

We may either transfer such Transferred Assets on to the clearing broker with respect to the Indirect Client Transaction, or we may transfer other assets to the clearing broker with respect to such Indirect Client Transaction.

You bear our credit risk with respect to our obligation to deliver Equivalent Assets to you. This means that if we were to fail, unless we are declared to be in default by the clearing broker, who would then be obliged to follow the requirements under the Indirect Clearing RTS with respect to a direct client default, you will have no right of recourse to the clearing broker or to any assets that we transfer to the clearing broker and you will instead have a claim against our estate for a return of the assets along with all our other general creditors. Even if we are declared to be in default by the clearing broker, the extent of your rights in relation to the clearing broker, if any, will depend on the particular clearing broker.

5. Will you get back the same type of asset as you originally provided to us as margin?

In a business as usual situation, whether we will deliver the same type of asset to you that you originally provided to us will be governed by our Indirect Client clearing Arrangement.

In the event of our default, if you are due a payment, you may not receive back the same type of asset that you originally provided to us. This is because the clearing broker is likely to have wide discretion to liquidate and value assets and make payments in various forms, and also because the clearing broker may not know what form of asset you originally provided to us as margin. This risk is present regardless of what type of client account you select.

Please see Part One C for a consideration of the main insolvency considerations.

PART ONE C: WHAT ARE THE MAIN INSOLVENCY CONSIDERATIONS?

1. General insolvency risks

If we enter into insolvency proceedings, you may not receive all of your assets back or retain the benefit of your Positions and there are likely to be time delays and costs (e.g. funding costs and legal fees) connected with recovering those assets. These risks arise in relation to both Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Accounts and Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Accounts because:

- you will not have any rights directly against the CCP; in the absence of any contractual relationship directly with it in this respect, you will not have any rights directly against the clearing broker; and you will only have contractual claims against us (i.e. rather than being able to recover particular assets as owner);
- our insolvency proceedings are most likely to be a version of either a sursis de paiement (suspension of payment) or a liquidation judiciaire (liquidation proceeding). In suspension of payments and liquidation proceedings, subject to a few exceptions, you will not be able to take any action against us without court or insolvency official consent (which can be a time consuming process with an uncertain outcome); and
- any stage of a cleared transaction may be challenged by our insolvency official if, amongst other things, it was not on arm's length terms. If successful, the court has broad powers to unwind or vary all of those stages.

Please also note that:

- insolvency law may override the terms of contractual agreements, so you should consider the legal framework as well as the terms of disclosures and legal agreements;
- a large part of your protection comes from CCP arrangements and the legal regimes surrounding them. Therefore, you should understand these in order to evaluate the level of protection that you have on our default. It is important that you review the relevant disclosures by the relevant clearing broker and the CCP in this respect; and
- The Luxembourg resolution regime set forth in the Luxembourg act of 18 December 2015 on the failure of credit institutions and certain investment firms (the BRR Act 2015), which aim to implement directive n° 2014/59/EU of the European Parliament and Council of 15 May 2014 establishing a framework for the recovery and resolution of credit institutions and investment firms (BRRD) under Luxembourg law applies because we are a credit institution that falls within its scope. We suggest that you take legal advice on such regime because it is beyond the scope of this disclosure; and

Additionally, the interaction of key default issues – e.g. porting, recovery of assets, close-out netting and other insolvency matters – are likely to be determined by a combination of, without being limited to, Luxembourg law, the law applicable to the relevant CCP, the law applicable to the relevant clearing broker and the law of the location of any collateral.

We suggest that you take legal advice on the interaction of these legal systems because it is beyond the scope of this disclosure.

2. Insolvency of clearing brokers, CCPs, us and others

Except as set out in this section "Insolvency of clearing brokers, CCPs and others", this disclosure deals only with our insolvency. You may also not receive all of your assets back or retain the benefit of your positions if other parties in the clearing structure default – e.g. the clearing broker or the CCP.

In relation to a clearing broker or CCP insolvency, broadly speaking, our (and therefore your) rights will depend on the law of the country in which the clearing broker or the CCP is incorporated (i.e. not necessarily in full or in part Luxembourg law) and the specific protections that the clearing broker or the CCP has put in place. You should review the relevant disclosures carefully in this respect and take legal advice to fully understand the risks in these scenarios. In addition, please note the following:

- we expect that an insolvency official will be appointed to manage the clearing broker or the CCP. Our rights against the clearing broker or the CCP will depend on the relevant insolvency law and/or that official;
- it may be difficult or impossible to port the Indirect Client Transactions and/or the Agreed Clearing Member Transactions and related margin, so it would be reasonable to expect that they will be terminated at the level of the clearing broker and/or the CCP. The steps, timing, level of control and risks relating to that process will depend on the clearing broker and/or the CCP, the applicable rules or agreements and the relevant insolvency law. However, it is likely that there will be material delay and uncertainty around when and how much assets or cash we will receive back from the clearing broker or the CCP. Subject to the bullet points below, it is likely that we will receive back only a percentage of assets available depending on the overall assets and liabilities of the clearing broker or the CCP;
- it is unlikely that you will have a direct claim against the clearing broker or the CCP because of the principal-to-principal model described in Part One A;
- under our Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement, your Positions will terminate at the same time as the matching Indirect Client Transactions unless our clearing arrangement with the clearing broker provides otherwise. This will result in a net sum owing between you and us. However, your claims against us are limited recourse so that you will only receive amounts from us if we receive equivalent amounts from the clearing broker or the CCP in relation to the relevant Indirect Client Transactions;
- if recovery of margin in these scenarios is important, then you should explore whether any clearing brokers offer "bankruptcy remote" or "physical segregation" structures. It is beyond the scope of this disclosure to analyse such options but your due diligence on them should include analysis of matters such as whether other creditors of the type described in "Porting – preferential creditors" below will have priority claims to margin; whether margin or positions on one account could be applied against margin or positions on another account (notwithstanding the client clearing agreement); the likely time needed to recover margin; whether the margin will be recovered as assets or cash equivalent; and any likely challenges to the legal effectiveness of the structure (especially as a result of the clearing broker's insolvency).

3. Margin rights

If you provide assets to us by way of security interest and we have not exercised a right of use over those assets, then you should have a legal right to recover the balance of those assets (after settling your obligations to us) ahead of other creditors. However, please note that, depending on the exact set up of our security arrangements, it may be that some preferential creditors will still have a prior claim to your assets (please see "Porting – preferential creditors" below which deals with a similar point).

If you have retained the assets (e.g. in a custody account over which you have given us a security interest) then you will have the best chance of recovering them. If you have transferred the assets to our name by way of security (e.g. by giving us a mortgage over the assets) then you bear more risk if there is a shortfall in any of the assets that we are holding. Generally speaking, your risk of loss will be highest in relation to cash margin; lower in relation to securities held by us in an omnibus account; and lower still if securities are segregated in our books and records and at custody level identifying you as the client.

The actual result will be highly fact specific and will depend on, amongst other things, the exact terms of our legal arrangements; how we have operated accounts; and claims that other intermediaries (e.g. custodians and settlement systems) have to those assets.

We do not expect the above position to change materially if you have a Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account or a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account.

4. Collateral Act 2005

The Luxembourg act dated 5 August 2005 on financial collateral arrangements, as amended (the Collateral Act 2005) would, under certain conditions pertaining to the characteristics of the transactions, protect the close-out netting of financial transactions entered into with us in a way that is enforceable against third parties and by derogation to the Luxembourg insolvency law.

Please see below an outline of some other specific insolvency risks and related commentary. Please note that the provisions of the Collateral Act 2005 are a complex and unclear piece of legislation and this summary is not a substitute for detailed legal analysis with your professional advisors.

5. Close-out netting

If we default and the clearing broker cannot port the Indirect Client Transactions and collateral (e.g. because a back-up entity cannot be found or because, in the absence of any specific direct contractual relationship directly between you and the clearing broker in this respect, the clearing broker is not willing to proceed with porting of the Indirect Client Transactions and collateral), then we would expect it to terminate and net our Indirect Client Transactions and apply related assets.

You and we would want this to work differently from normal bilateral close-out netting that would apply to all positions and assets between us and the clearing broker – e.g. assets on an Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account relating to you could be netted with our house or another indirect client account at the clearing broker. There is a risk that this netting across accounts could happen automatically as a result of ordinary Luxembourg insolvency law. However, to the extent that the protection of the provisions of the Collateral Act 2005 applies, this should not occur.

A similar risk occurs between us and you in relation to the Positions and assets in relation to the Indirect Client Clearing Services. It is most likely to materialise in a pre-porting period during which Luxembourg law may automatically set off amounts owed and collateral relating to one clearing broker with amounts owed and collateral relating to another. This risk arises regardless of what you and we may provide for in our Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement. Whilst the resulting Early Termination Amount should represent our net exposure to each other, it will make porting difficult or impossible. The provisions of the Collateral Act 2005 in relation to set off and close-out netting do not provide you any direct protection in this case but, depending on the relevant clearing structure, a security interest may provide some protection in this regard (as mentioned under "What happens if we are declared to be in default by a clearing broker?").

This document is based on the January 2016 version of the ISDA and FIA Clearing Member Disclosure Document in which both the International Swaps and Derivatives Association, Inc. and FIA, Inc. have copyright.

Please also note more generally that your freedom to exercise close out netting is more limited under the Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement than in other arrangements that you may be used to. In particular, the main termination event under our Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement is that the relevant clearing broker has declared us to be in default under the clearing arrangement between it and us. The intention is to match the treatment of the Indirect Client Transactions and your Positions as much as possible. However, this may mean that, unless the clearing broker declares a default under the clearing arrangement, you cannot exercise close out netting for common reasons such as a payment default on our part.

6. Porting – prohibition

A clearing broker only owes us (not you) obligations in relation to the Indirect Client Transactions and related assets.

As a result, when these contracts and assets are transferred to a back-up entity, there is a risk of insolvency challenge because our rights have effectively been taken from us on or around the time of our insolvency. Applicable laws may not permit this and there is a risk that the courts may therefore not permit, or may unwind, any porting and related Indirect Client Transactions with this back-up entity.

As mentioned above, based on Luxembourg statutory and regulatory provisions applicable as of the date of this Direct Client Disclosure Document, the only way porting may be effective in a situation where we are subject to insolvency proceedings in Luxembourg would be for a clearing broker which benefits from the protection of the provisions of the Collateral Act 2005 to accept a close-out (with us) and a re-establishment (with the back-up entity) of the Indirect Client Transactions.

7. Porting - preferential creditors

As mentioned under "What happens if we are declared to be in default by a clearing broker?" in Part One A, a clearing broker's porting structure may be based on or supported by a security interest. This can take different forms but generally involves us creating security over our rights against the clearing broker in relation to a Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account or a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account in your favour or in favour of another person (e.g. an independent trustee) to hold the security on your behalf. Broadly speaking, the security interest should support the argument that these assets are not part of our insolvency estate (i.e. are not to be shared with our general creditors).

However, depending on the exact structure, insolvency law gives certain statutory creditors priority over secured creditors. This means that some creditors may have a claim on client account assets ahead of you. Statutory creditors are likely to include, amongst others, our insolvency official (e.g. in respect of its costs and expenses), a relatively small amount of unsecured creditors, some employee salaries and pension contributions.

8. Mismatch of the Agreed Clearing Member/Indirect Client Transactions and Assets

---

It could be that our net assets in relation to the Indirect Client Transactions do not match our net obligations to each other in relation to the Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement. This can slow down or make porting impossible either operationally or legally.

For example, it may occur at clearing broker level as a result of Fellow Client Risk (see the explanation of this term in Part Two of this document) in a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account, with the result that there are insufficient assets available for porting to satisfy our obligations to you in relation to the Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement.

Alternatively, it could be that all of your Positions and collateral with us are netted automatically as a result of Luxembourg insolvency law (please see above under "Close-out netting").

9. Transfer under the Luxembourg resolution regime

---

The Luxembourg resolution regime set forth in the BRR Act 2015, which aim to implement BRRD under Luxembourg law applies because we are a credit institution that falls within its scope. As a result, in serious circumstances, we may, among other things, be transferred to a third party by the resolution board of the Luxembourg Commission de surveillance du secteur financier. In that case, your counterparty and/or your counterparty risk may change. It is unlikely that you will be able to stop such transfer or to enforce any early termination rights against us as a result of such transfer.

PART TWO: CLEARING BROKER INDIRECT CLIENT ACCOUNT STRUCTURES

As noted in Part One B, each clearing broker is required under the Indirect Clearing RTS to offer at least the choice of a Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account or a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account. This Part Two contains an overview of the levels of segregation of each account type, together with an overview of the main protections afforded by and the main legal implications of each.

The descriptions given in this Part Two are very high level and consider the minimum requirements for indirect client account types under the Indirect Clearing RTS and the respective levels of segregation. However, the particular characteristics of the accounts will affect the exact levels of protection they offer and the legal implications so you must review the information provided by the clearing brokers to fully understand the risks of the specific account we maintain in relation to you at each clearing broker. You may also need to seek professional advice to understand the differences in detail. However, we hope that the questions raised and factors described in both parts of this document will help you to know which questions to ask and to understand the impact of the answers you receive.

The descriptions have been prepared on the basis of the minimum requirements in the Indirect Clearing RTS.

The Annex seeks to compare the main account types and levels of segregation against the following risks:

Risks used to compare each account type and level of segregation	Explanation of risk
Transit Risk	Whether you are exposed to us at any point in the process of providing or receiving margin pursuant to the Indirect Client Clearing Arrangement
Fellow Client Risk	Whether assets provided to the clearing broker or CCP in respect of the Indirect Client Transactions related to you could be used to cover losses in the Indirect Client Transactions relating to another client.
Liquidation Risk	Whether, if the Indirect Client Transactions and assets relating to them were to be ported, there is a risk that any non-cash assets would be liquidated into cash. If this were to happen, the value given to such assets by the clearing broker may differ from what you perceive to be the full value of the assets.
Haircut Risk	Whether the value of the assets that relate to the Indirect Client Transactions might be reduced or not increase by as much as you expect because the clearing broker applied a haircut that did not properly reflect the value of the asset.

Risks used to compare each account type and level of segregation	Explanation of risk
Valuation Mutualisation Risk	Whether the value of the assets that relate to the Indirect Client Transactions could be reduced or not increase by as much as you expect because the assets posted in relation to other clients' Indirect Client Transactions have decreased in value.
Clearing Broker Insolvency Risk	Whether you are exposed to the insolvency or other failure of the clearing broker.

1. Typical account characteristics at the clearing broker level

	Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account	Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account
Who will the Indirect Client Transactions recorded in the account relate to?	Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Accounts record both assets and the Indirect Client Transactions that relate to you (where you have opted for a Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account) and the assets and the Indirect Client Transactions that relate to our other clients that have also opted for a Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account.	Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Accounts record both assets and the Indirect Client Transactions that relate to you (where you have opted for a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account) and the assets and the Indirect Client Transactions that relate to our other clients that have also opted for a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account.
Which losses can assets recorded in the account be used for?	Assets that are provided to the clearing broker as margin for a Indirect Client Transaction recorded in a Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account may be used to cover any losses in that account, whether such losses relate your Indirect Client Transactions or the Indirect Client Transactions relating to one of our other clients within that Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account.	Assets that are provided to the clearing broker as margin for a Indirect Client Transaction recorded in a Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account may be used to cover any losses in that account, whether such losses relate your Indirect Client Transactions or the Indirect Client Transactions relating to one of our other clients within that Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account.
Will the clearing broker know which Indirect Client Transactions and types of assets relate to you?	The clearing broker may not know which Indirect Client Transactions and assets recorded in a Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account relate to you.	Yes, but prior to our default it may not know your identity.
Will the clearing broker record the assets provided by value only or will it identify the type of asset provided?	The clearing broker may identify in its records the type of asset provided as margin for the Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account but will not be able to identify which type of assets relate to any client's Indirect Client Transactions within that Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account.	The clearing broker may identify in its records the type of asset provided as margin for the Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account but is unlikely to be able to identify anything other than the value of assets provided in respect of any of our client's Indirect Client Transactions within that Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account.

	Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account	Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account
Will the Indirect Client Transactions recorded in the account be netted?	It is likely that the Indirect Client Transactions recorded in the account will be netted. This means that Indirect Client Transactions that relate to you may be netted with Indirect Client Transactions that relate to our other clients whose Indirect Client Transactions are recorded in the same Basic Omnibus Indirect Client Account.	Indirect Client Transactions relating to you are likely to be netted with other Indirect Client Transactions relating you. However, Indirect Client Transactions relating to you should not be netted with Indirect Client Transactions relating to any of our other clients recorded in the same Gross Omnibus Indirect Client Account.
Will the margin be calculated on a gross or net basis?	The margin will be calculated on a net basis.	The margin will be calculated on a gross basis.
Will you have to enter into any documentation or operational arrangements directly with the clearing broker?	You may have to enter into legal documentation to which the clearing broker is party. It is unlikely that you will have to set up any operational arrangements with the clearing broker directly.	You may have to enter into legal documentation to which the clearing broker is party. It is possible but unlikely that you will have to set up some operational arrangements with the clearing broker directly.
Transit Risk	Yes	Yes
Fellow Client Risk	Yes	Yes
Liquidation Risk	Yes	Yes (unless the clearing broker is able to port the assets recorded in the account or is able to transfer the assets to you without needing to liquidate some or all of them first).
Haircut Risk	Yes	Yes
